

Ginger and the Pizza

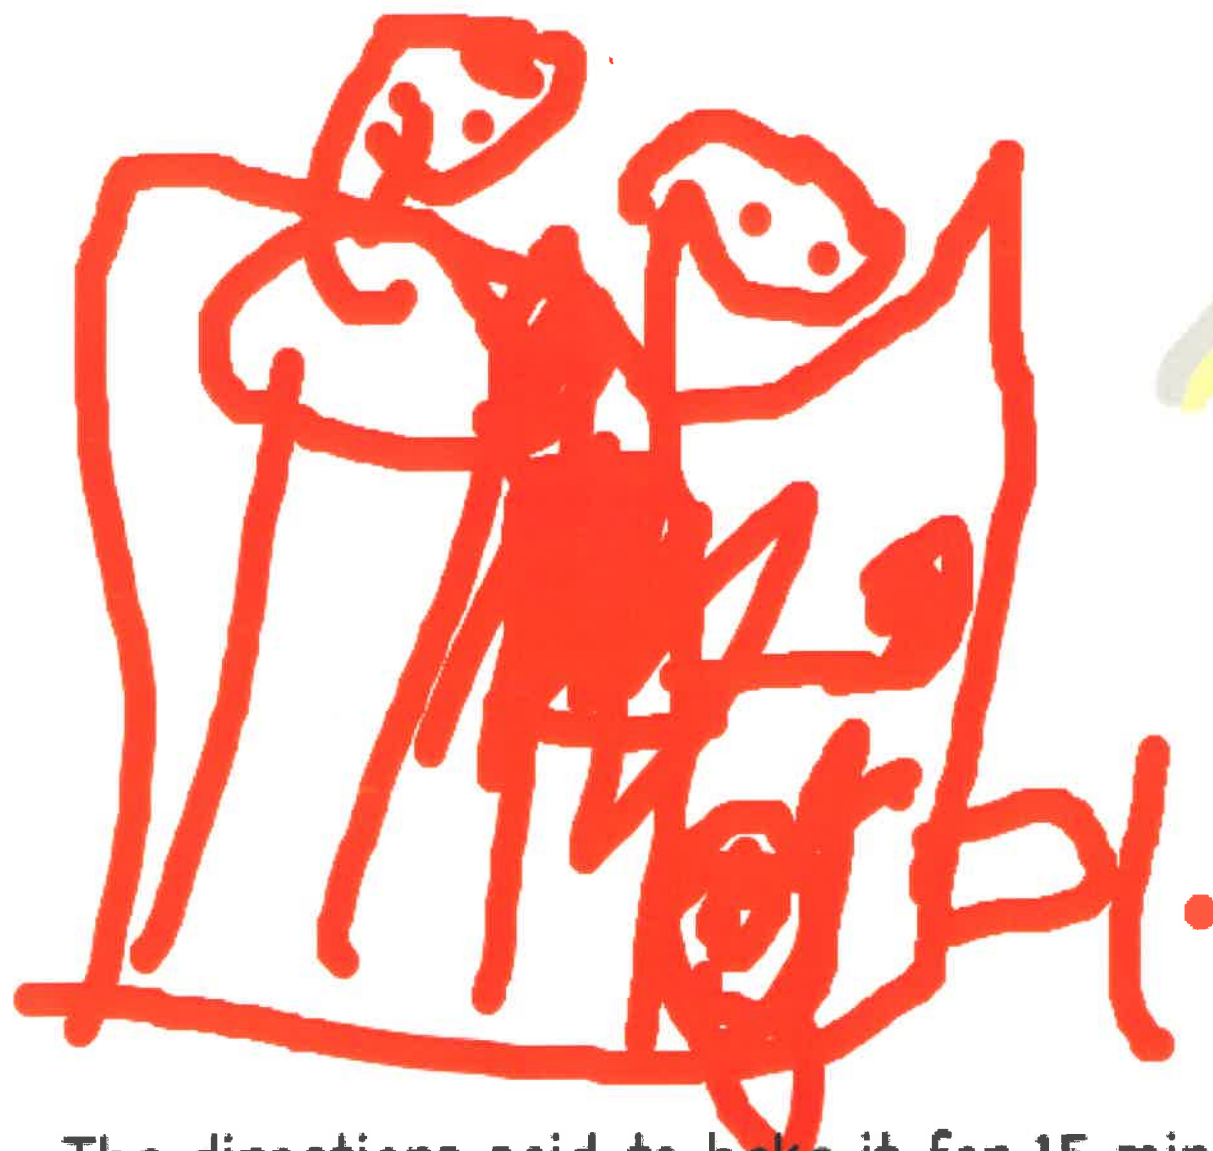

By Ms. Standorf's Kindergarten Class, 2017

Once upon a time, Farmer Ginger was home alone. She decided to watch her favorite movie, The Empire Strikes Back, and make a pizza.

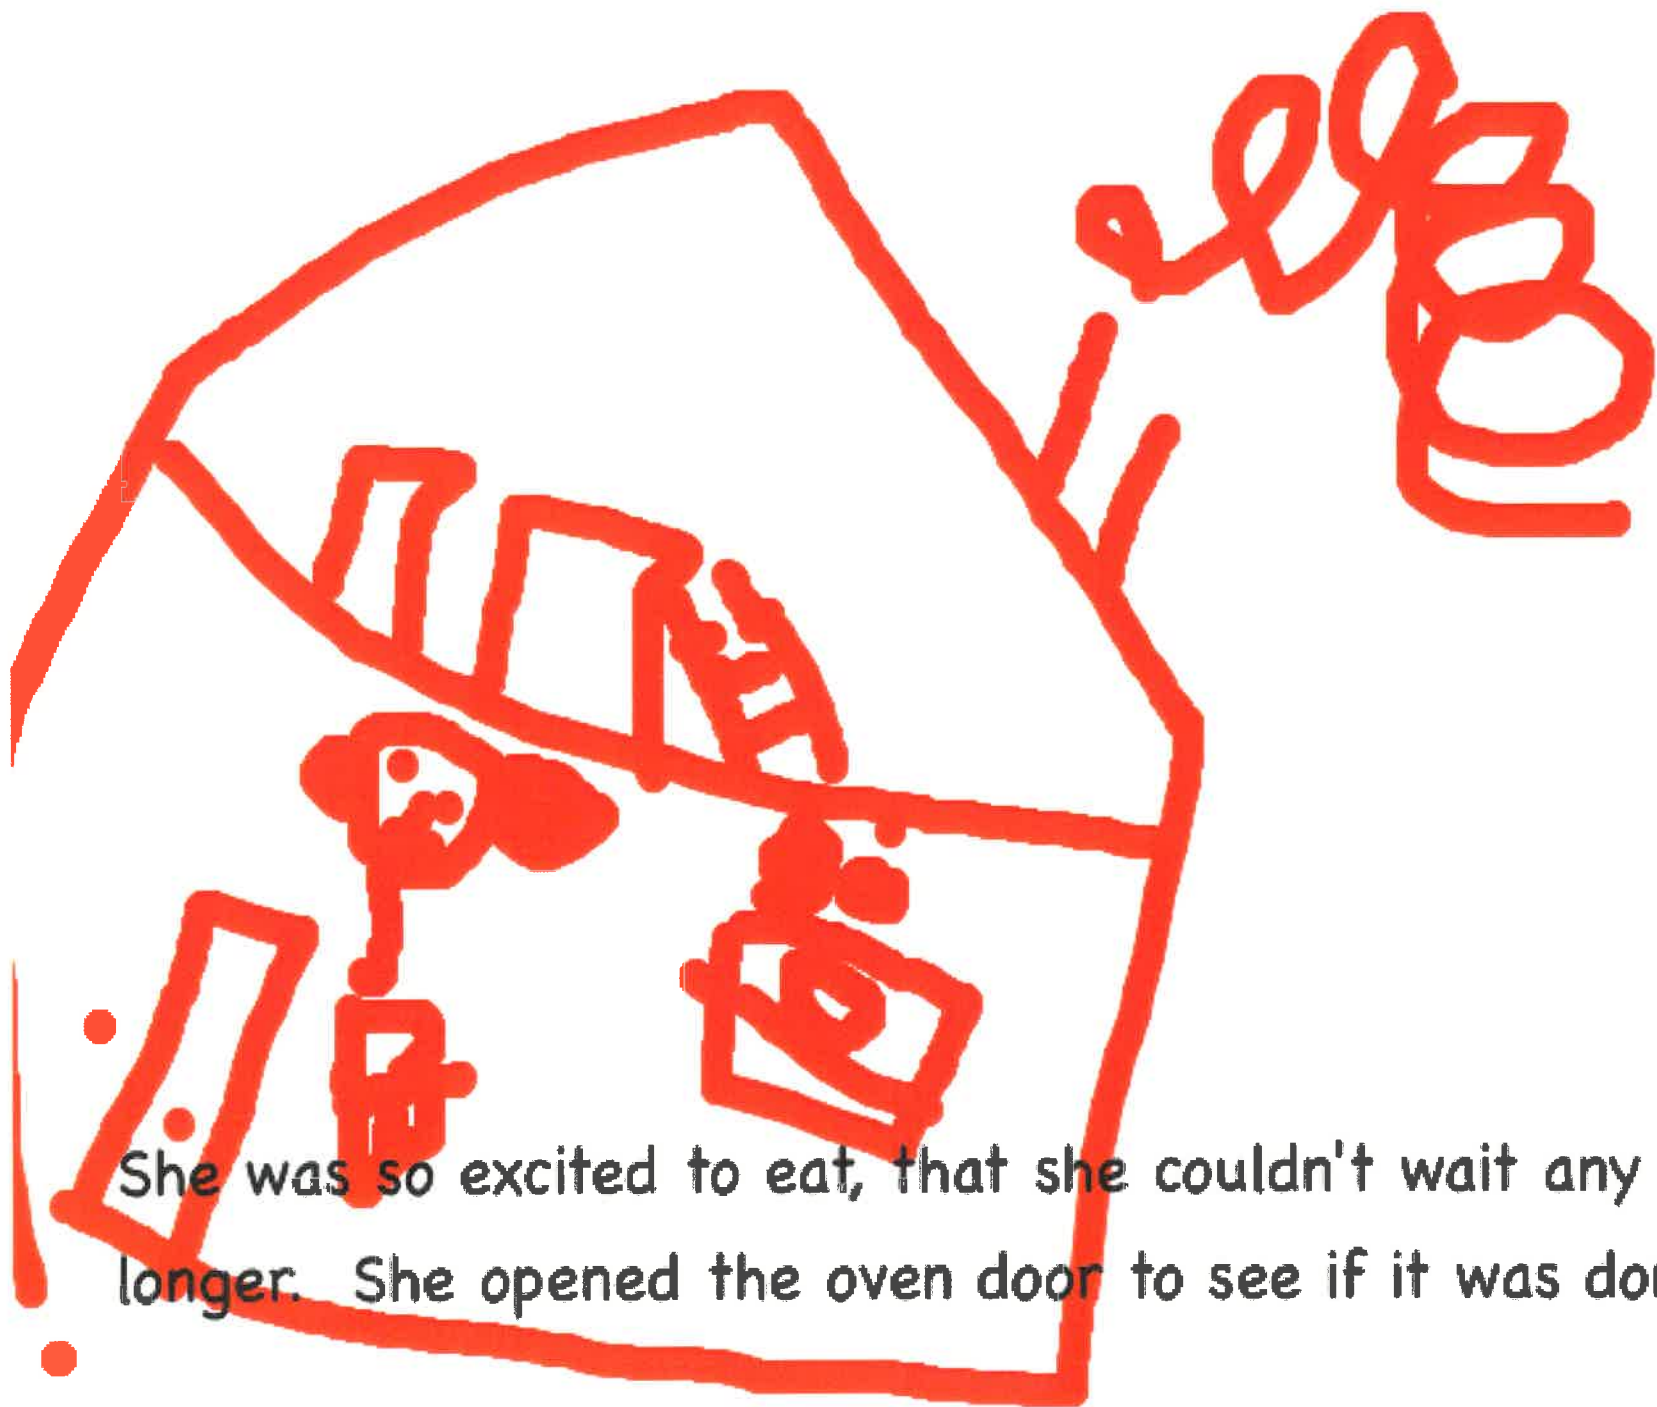

Ginger took a pizza crust out of the freezer, added her favorite toppings, and put it in the oven.

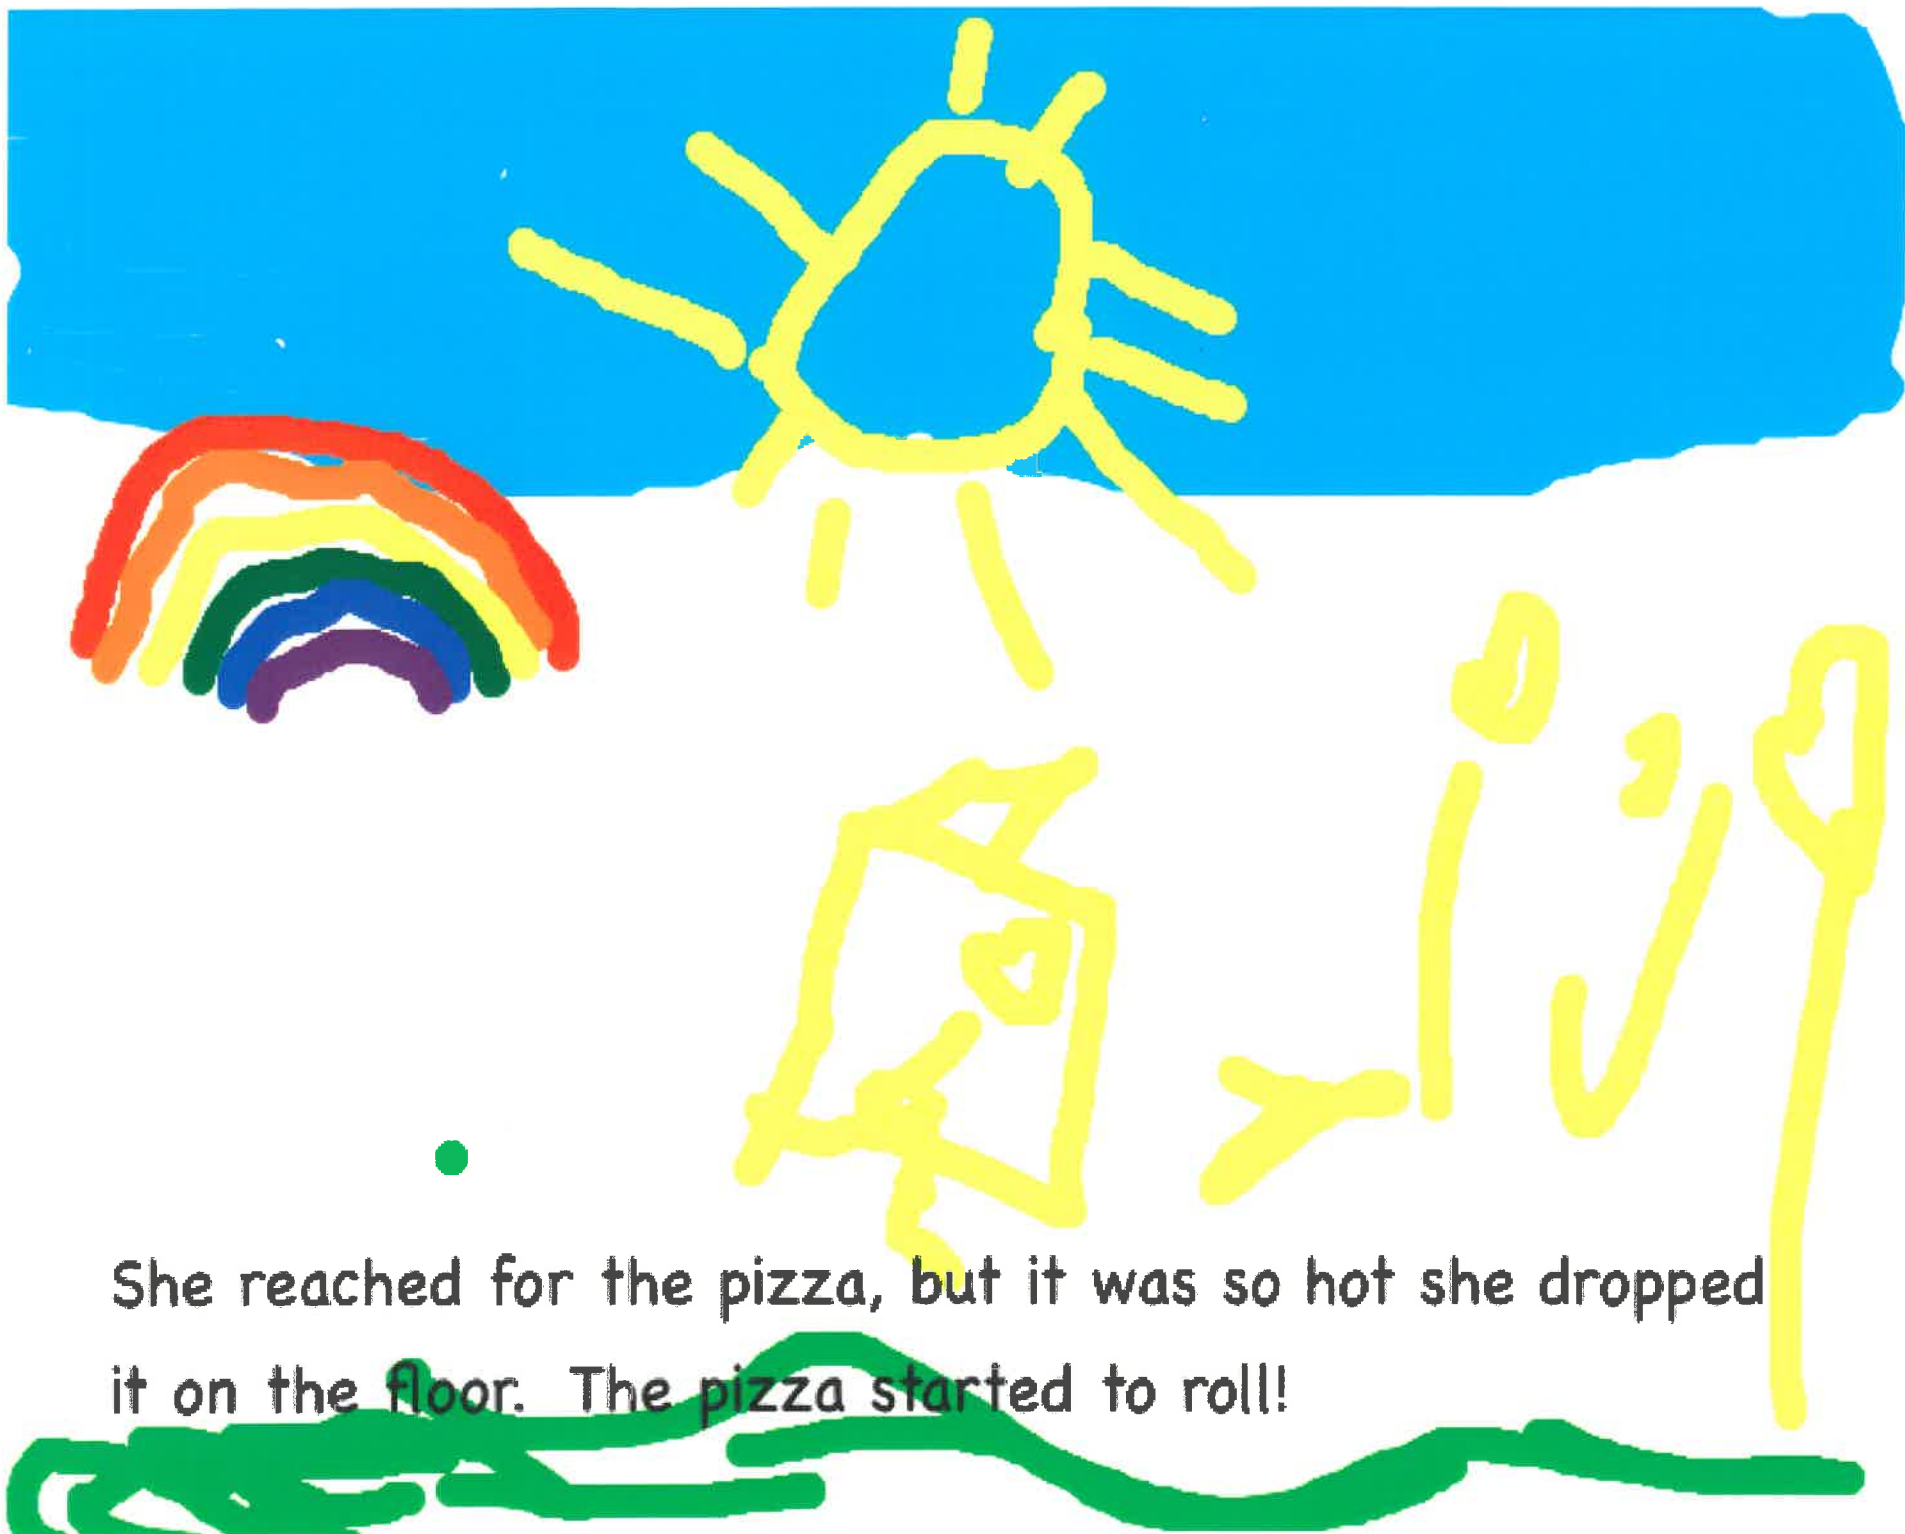

The directions said to bake it for 15 minutes. Ginger was very hungry. After 5 minutes she checked her watch.

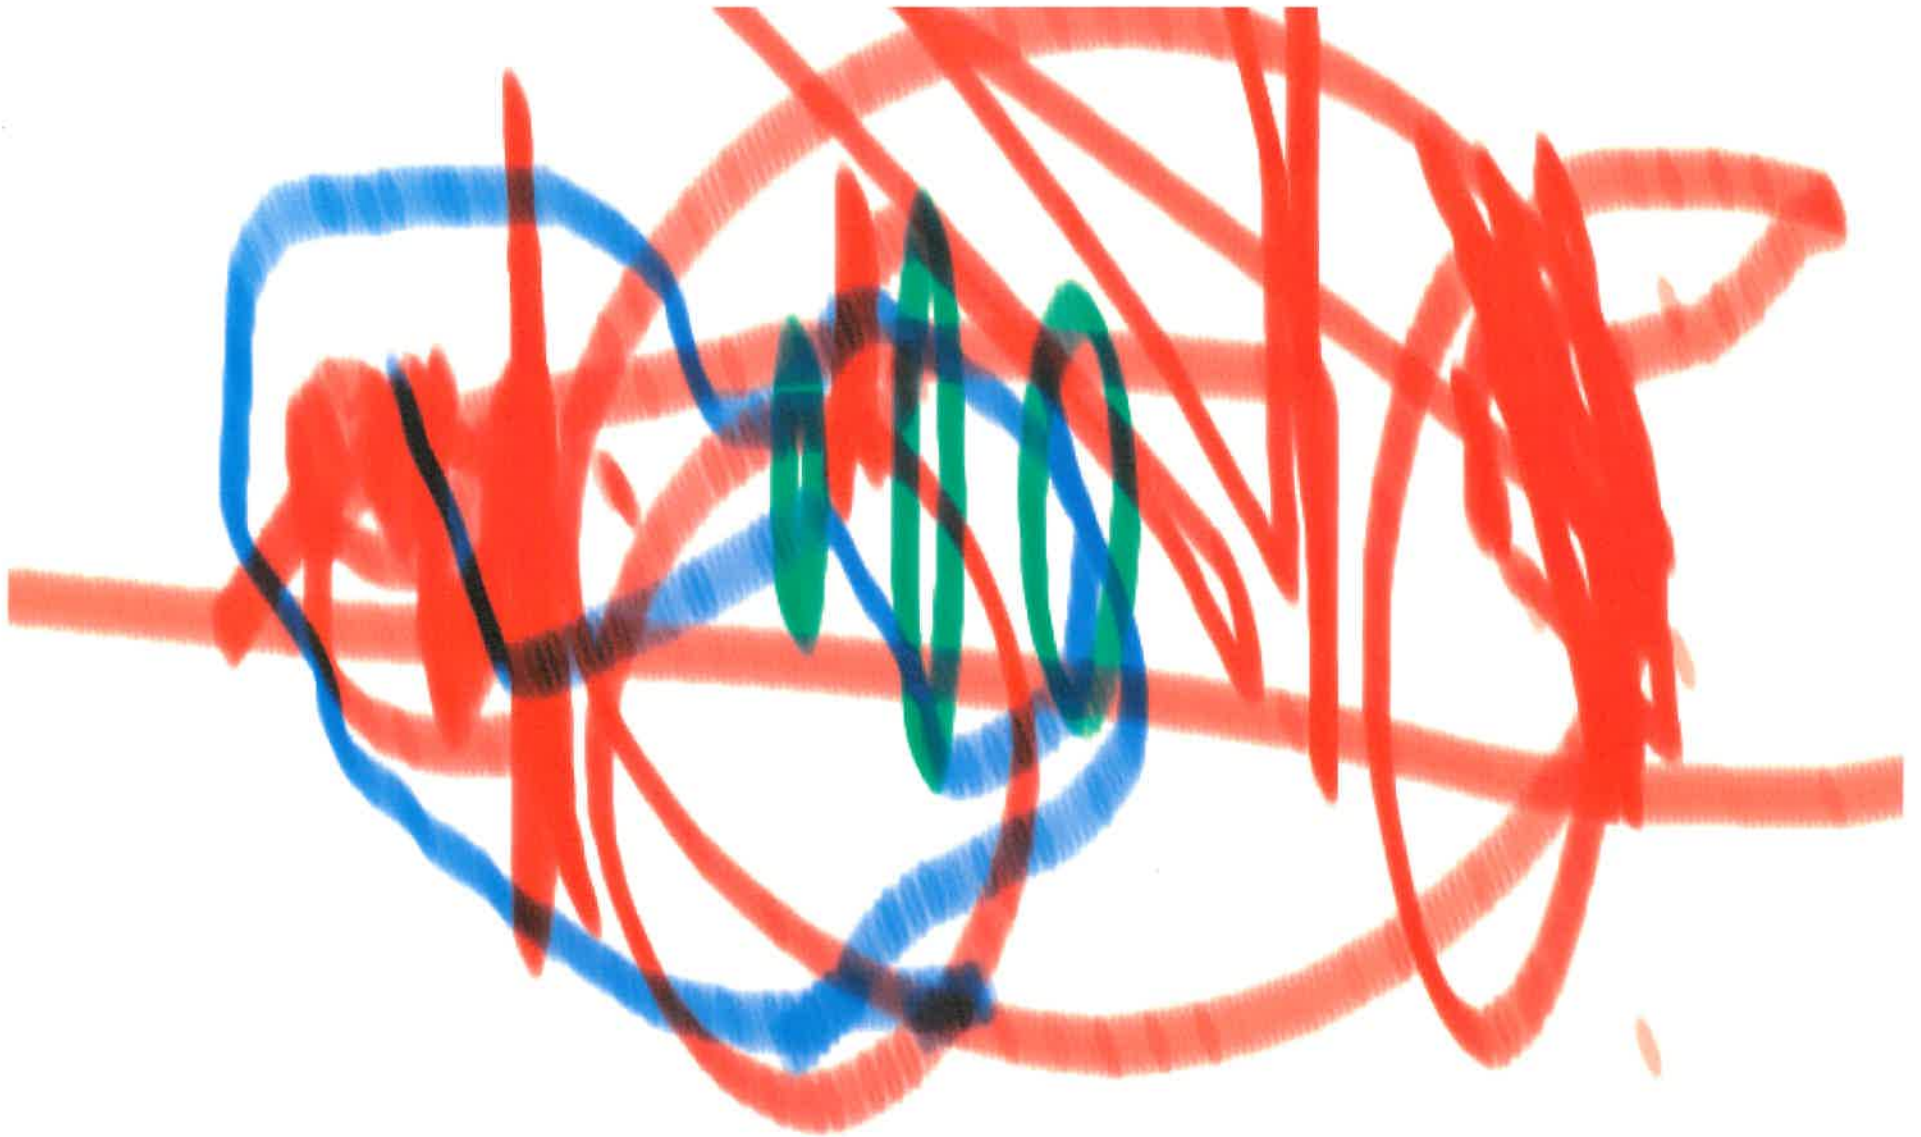

Ginger waited another 5 minutes. She could smell the pizza and it smelled good!

She was so excited to eat, that she couldn't wait any longer. She opened the oven door to see if it was done.

She reached for the pizza, but it was so hot she dropped it on the floor. The pizza started to roll!

Just then, her husband came home and opened the door.
The pizza went right past him into the farm yard!

The pizza rolled past the dog house. Bella the dog smelled the pizza and wanted to take a bite.

Ginger yelled, "Stop, stop, it's too hot! That's my snack, I want it back!" So Bella joined the chase and Ginger and Bella ran after the pizza.

Next, the pizza rolled past the chicken coop. Lucy the chicken smelled the pizza and wanted to take a bite.

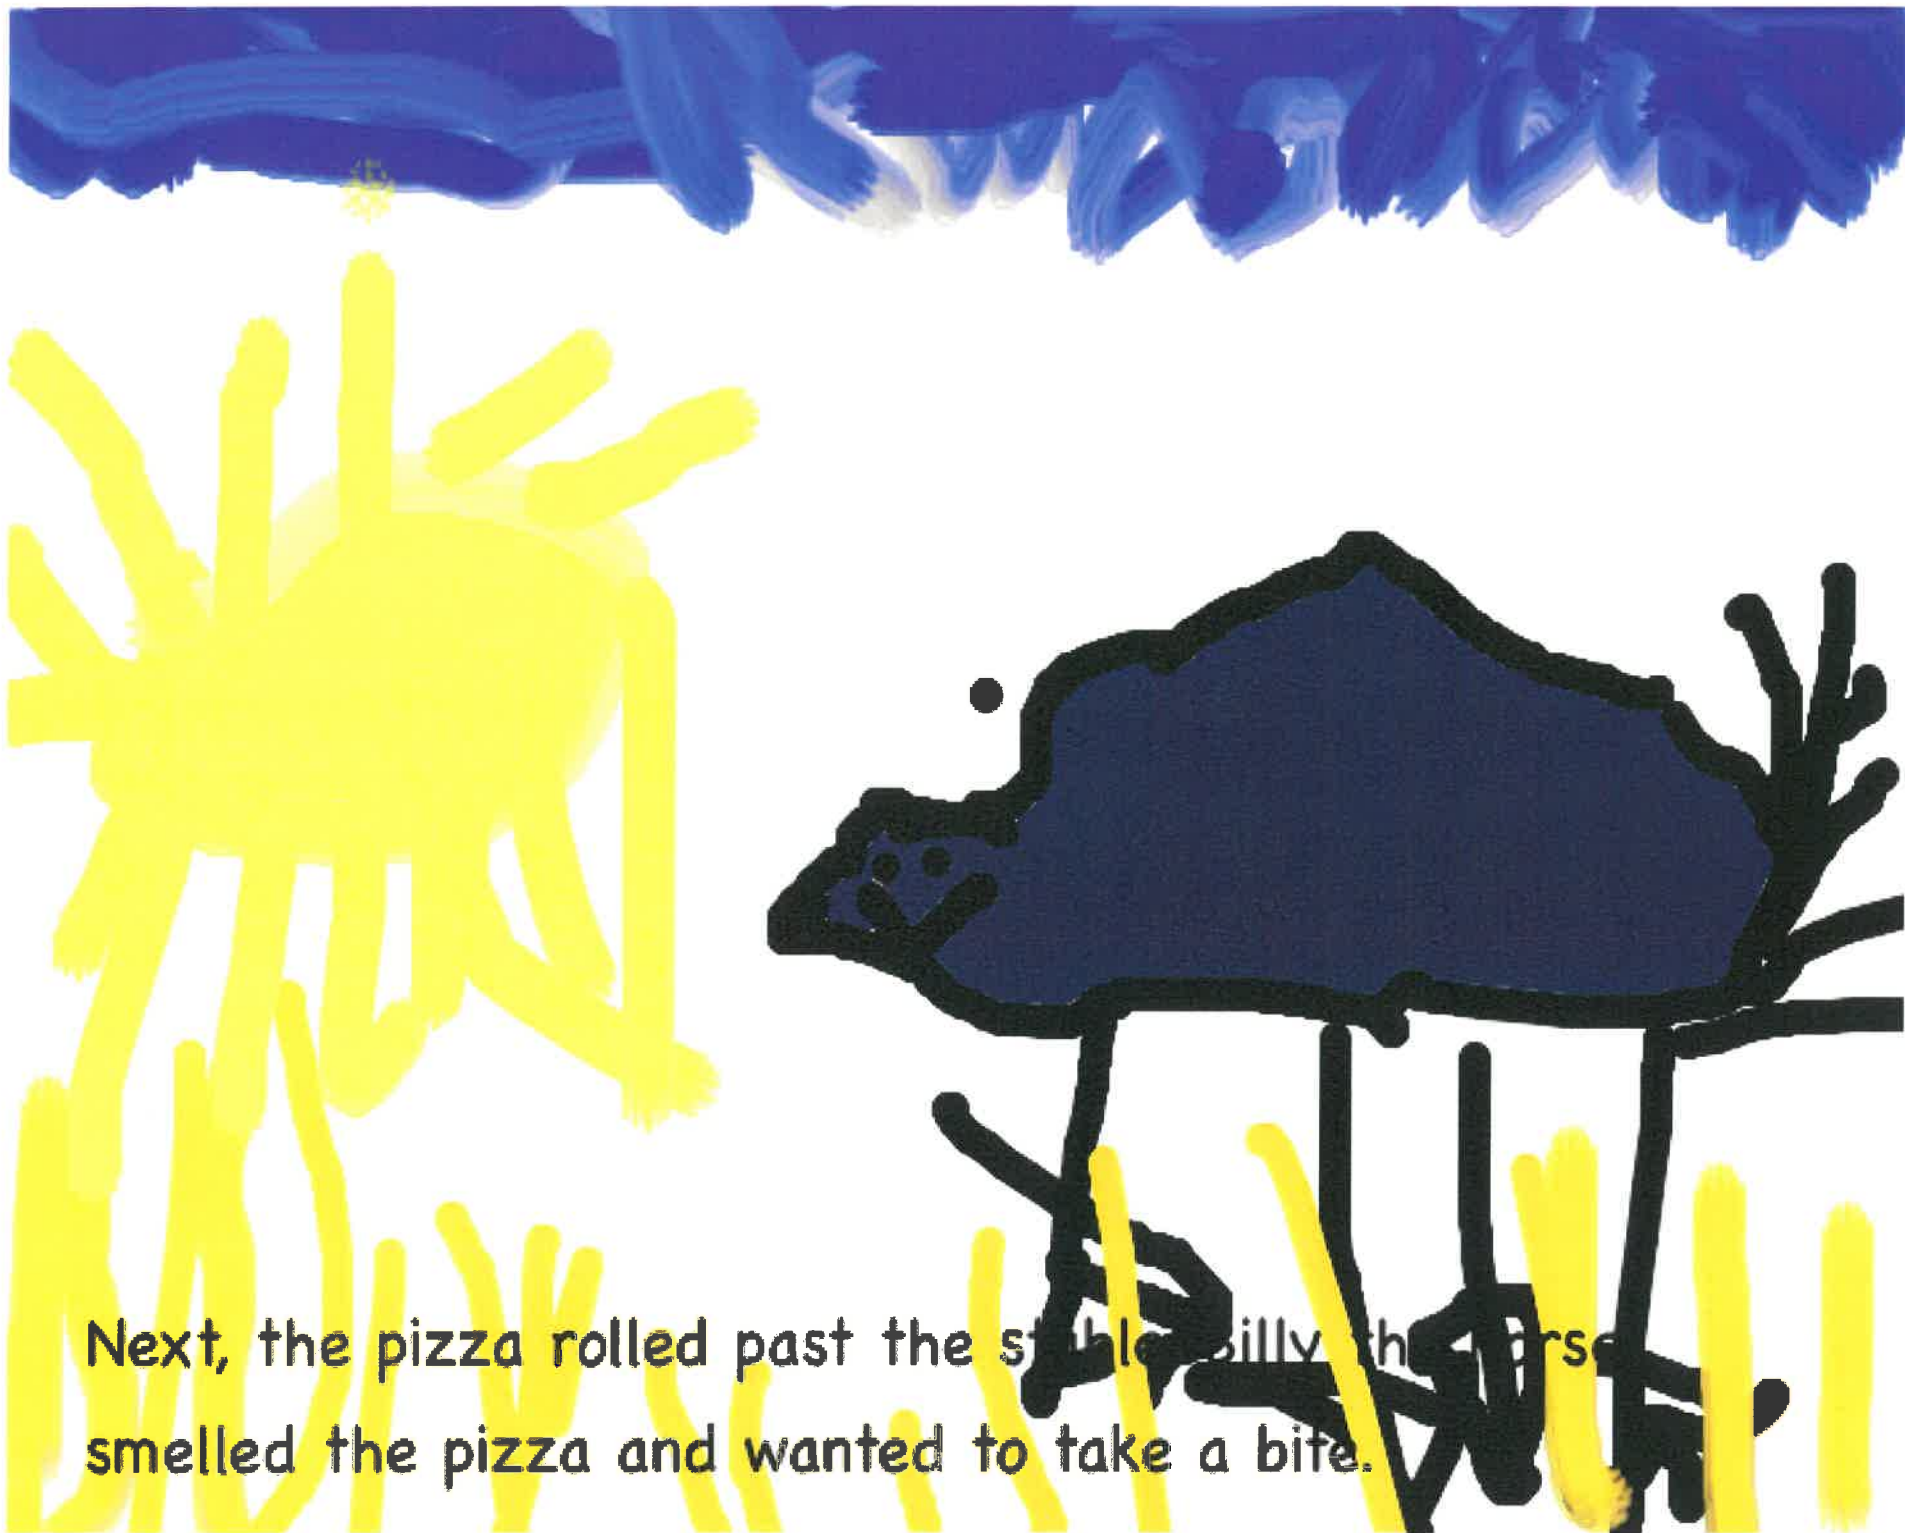

Ginger yelled, "Stop, stop, it's too hot! That's my snack I want it back!" so Lucy joined the chase and Ginger, Bella, and Lucy ran after the pizza.

Next, the pizza rolled past the barn. Rosie the cow smelled the pizza and wanted to take a bite.

Ginger yelled, "Stop, stop, it's too hot! That's my snack, I want it back!" So, Rosie joined the chase and Ginger, Bella, Lucy, and Rosie ran after the pizza.

Next, the pizza rolled past the stable. Billy the horse smelled the pizza and wanted to take a bite.

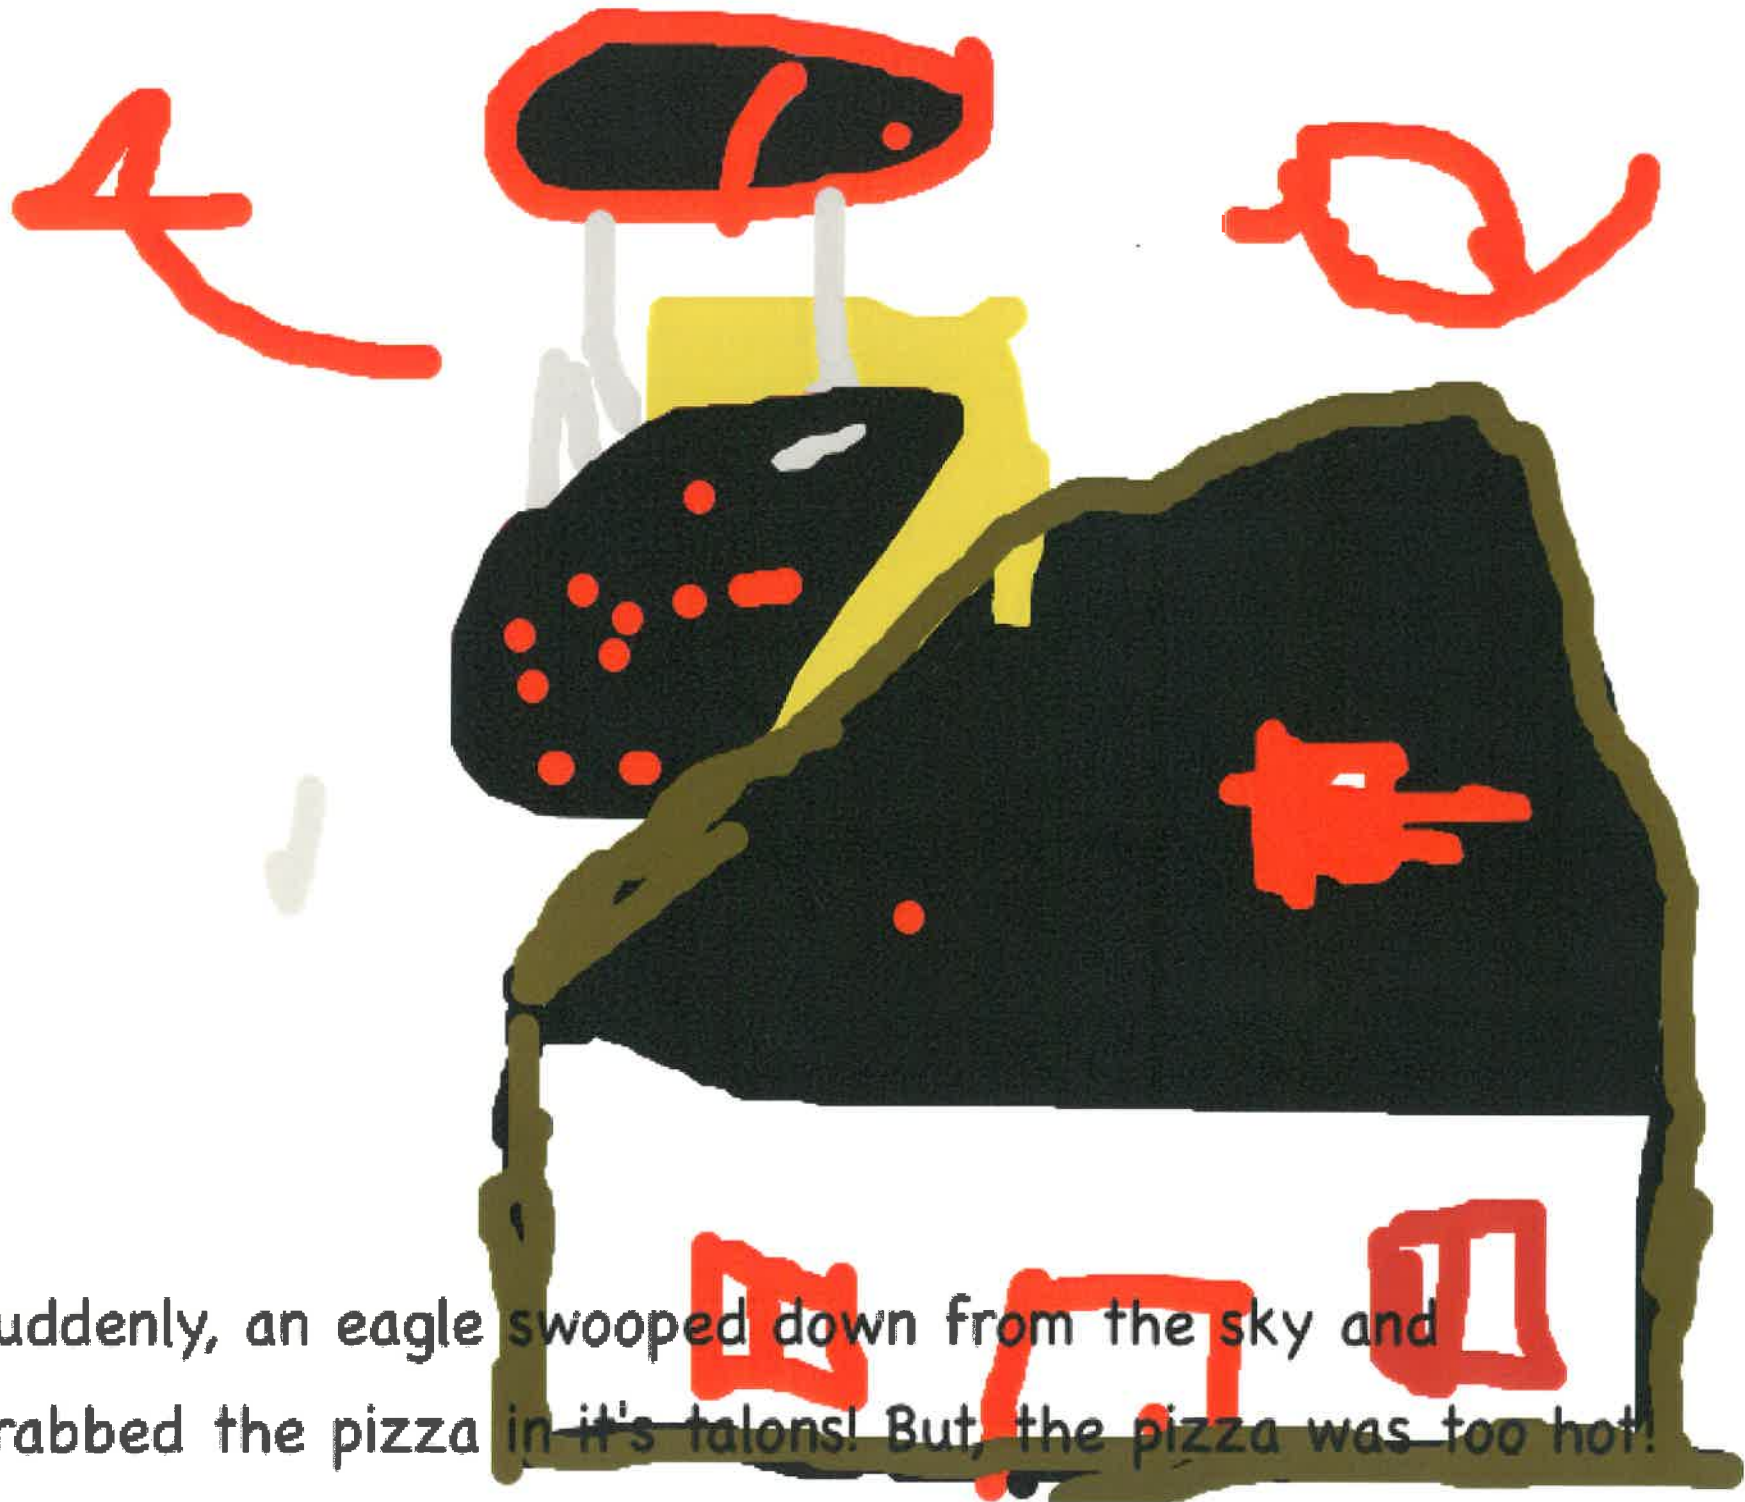

Ginger yelled, "Stop, stop, it's too hot! That's my snack, I want it back!" So Billy joined the chase, and Ginger, Bella, Lucy, Rosie, and Billy ran after the pizza.

Next, the pizza rolled past the pond. Tom the duck smelled the pizza and wanted to take a bite.

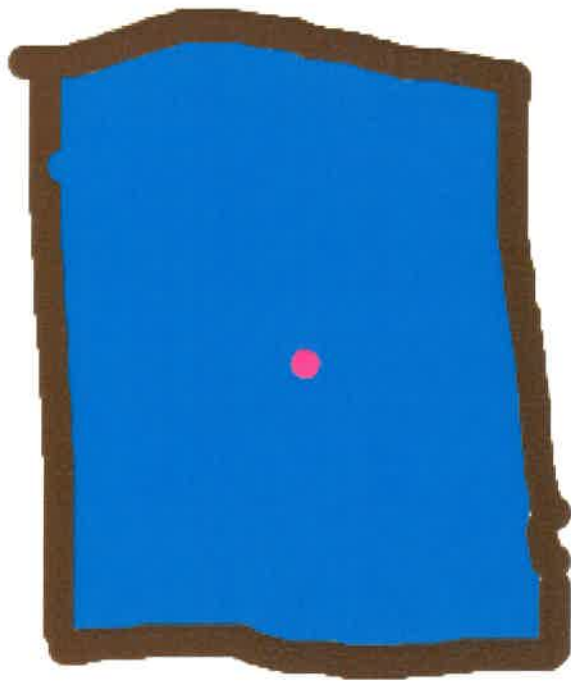

Ginger yelled "Stop, stop, it's too hot! That's my snack, I want it back!" So Tom joined the chase and Ginger, Bella, Lucy, Rosie, Billy, and Tom ran after the pizza.

Suddenly, an eagle swooped down from the sky and grabbed the pizza in it's talons! But, the pizza was too hot!

Just as the eagle was flying over the farmer's house 'it dropped the pizza in the chimney! Ginger' s husband was inside.

He found the pizza, cleaned it off, and cut it into pieces.
When Ginger and the animals came home, they found the pizza warm and ready to eat!

Ginger was so thankful to the animals for all their help, that she invited them in to watch The Empire Strikes Back and eat some pizza. They all snuggled in and had a great night!
